

SASKATCHEWAN
ACCESS TO JUSTICE
WORKING GROUP

BULLETIN FOR JUNE 2017

Saskatoon lawyer Janice Gingell helps people access legal advice even after retiring: <http://bit.ly/2tbZm6z>.

Harvard Law School's Access to Justice Lab aims to challenge legal exceptionalism: <http://bit.ly/2rFE5QJ>.

University of Saskatchewan project tackles access to justice issues: <http://bit.ly/2tbpJt0>.

Fifth version of National Self-Represented Litigants Project's Access to Justice Annotated Bibliography released, featuring new section on unbundling and legal coaching: <http://bit.ly/2rJQJmA>.

Access to justice should be priority for robot lawyers: <http://bit.ly/2szag8h>.

British Columbia's Civil Resolution Tribunal offers an online option for small-claims disputes: <http://bit.ly/2rADnc3>.

CLASSIC's Chantelle Johnson striving tirelessly for equity: <http://bit.ly/2roA8jW>.

New videos in Nova Scotia provide an overview on common family justice topics: <http://bit.ly/2sa7zJl>.

Supreme Court chief justice, known for access to justice leadership, to retire: <http://bit.ly/2slzAZV>.

New report of Legal Services Corporation explores "The Justice Gap: Measuring the Unmet Civil Legal Needs of Low-income Americans": <http://bit.ly/2tbLCIK>.

University of Saskatchewan College of Law associate professor Sarah Buhler talks about her work in the area of access to justice through community-engaged research: <http://bit.ly/2roWSQL>.

Site for crowdfunding justice comes to United States: <http://voc.tv/2qZ25CU>.

Saskatchewan Human Rights Commission Speaker Series to feature Harold Johnson, crown prosecutor and award-winning author on June 27, 2017 in Saskatoon. RSVP to connie.windecker@gov.sk.ca by June 26.

PASS IT ON! SUBMIT YOUR BITE-SIZED ACCESS TO JUSTICE NEWS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE BULLETIN TO a2jworkinggroup@usask.ca AND ENCOURAGE OTHERS TO SUBSCRIBE FOR THE BULLETIN AT <http://bit.ly/29eyYPr>.

UNIVERSITY OF SASKATCHEWAN
College of Law
LAW.USASK.CA