Participant Bios

Clayton Bangsund
Clayton Bangsund is an Associate Professor at the University of Saskatchewan. He researches and teaches in various areas of commercial law including secured transactions and sales. Thomson Reuters is publishing his book, Bangsund on the Personal Property Security Act: The CCPPSL Model, in the fall of 2021, and the article he is presenting at this year’s symposium is the last of a five-part series on the topic of sales without a change of possession. Fittingly, the first edition of this pentalogy was presented at the second Commercial Law Symposium, hosted by the University of Saskatchewan, College of Law in 2017.

Tamara Buckwold
Tamara Buckwold is University of Alberta Professor Emerita. She has researched and taught in contracts and commercial law, focusing primarily on judgment enforcement and personal property security law. She has led or participated in multiple law reform projects and recently presented and published on issues in the reform of fraudulent conveyances law. She is currently involved in a project to update the Personal Property Security Act and related legislation.

Ronald Cuming
Ronald Cuming is a Distinguished Professor of Law in the College of Law at the University of Saskatchewan. His research focuses on national and international secured financing law, judgment enforcement law, leasing law and insolvency, bankruptcy and receivership law. Professor Cuming co-authored the report on reform of Saskatchewan judgment enforcement law which led to the enactment of The Enforcement of Money Judgments Act and is co-author of “Personal Property Security Law” (3 editions 2008, 2012 and 2021).

Anthony Duggan
Anthony Duggan is the Honourable Frank H. Iacobucci Chair Emeritus and Professor Emeritus, in the Faculty of Law at the University of Toronto. His primary area of research is secured transactions, with a secondary interest in bankruptcy and insolvency law. His recent publications include: Jacob S. Ziegel, David L. Denomme and Anthony Duggan, The Ontario Personal Property Security Act: Commentary and Analysis (3rd edition, LexisNexis Canada, Toronto, 2020) (sole author of 3rd edition); Anthony Duggan, Australian Personal Property Securities Law (3rd edition, LexisNexis Australia, Sydney, Australia, 2021); Anthony Duggan, Mark Selick and Michael Burke, Secured Transactions in Personal Property: Cases, Text and Materials (8th edition, Emond Montgomery, Toronto, in press).

Martin-Joe Ezeudu
Martin-Joe Ezeudu is an Assistant Professor at Bora Laskin Faculty of Law, Lakehead University. He researches primarily on natural resources law and policy. He also has an interest in commercial law. His article on Ontario’s free entry mining system was published in 2020 in vol. 20 of Asper Review of International Business and Trade Law. He has just reviewed the most recent textbook on Canadian mining law by Barry Barton, which he published in vol 17(2) of McGill Journal of Sustainable Development Law.

Benjamin Geva
Benjamin Geva is a Professor of Law at Osgoode Hall Law School of York University, and also counsel at Torys LLP, specializing in commercial banking and payments. He was recently a visitor at Vienna University and UNCITRAL. He recently co-authored a book on international negotiable instruments and three articles on central bank digital currency, and has written on the European Second Payment Services Directive (PSD2), the electronic bill of exchange, and the Electronic Transport Transfer Record (ETTR).

Gail Henderson
Gail Henderson (she/her) is an Associate Professor and the Associate Dean (Faculty Relations) at Queen’s University Faculty of Law. She researches and teaches in the areas of financial regulation, securities regulation, corporate law and contracts. She recently contributed a co-authored article on COVID-19 and Regulation of Alternative Financial Services to a special issue of the Queen’s Law Journal and completed a SSHRC-funded, interdisciplinary research project focused on financial literacy education in elementary schools.

Joshua Karton
Joshua Karton (he/him) is an Associate Professor and the Associate Dean for Graduate Studies and Research at Queen’s Law. His research and teaching deal with international dispute resolution (especially commercial and investor-state international arbitration), international and comparative contract law, transnational legal theory, globalization and law, and linguistic issues in law. He is a co-founder and the Managing Editor of the Canadian Journal of Commercial Arbitration, now in its second volume, and was recently elected as an Associate Member of the International Academy of Comparative Law.
Participant Bios

Freya Kodar
Freya Kodar is an Associate Professor at the Faculty of Law, University of Victoria. Her research focuses on income and financial security across the life course, and she researches and teaches in the areas of consumer law and policy, pension law and policy, debtor and creditor relations, and disability and the law. She is co-author of Law and Disability in Canada: Cases and Materials (LexisNexis, 2021) with Laverne Jacobs, Ruby Dhand, David Ireland, Richard Jochelson & Odelia Bay, and is currently working on research projects examining automated decision-making.

Anna Lund
Anna Lund (she/her) is an Associate Professor at the University of Alberta. She researches and teaches in the areas of bankruptcy and insolvency, civil procedure, access to justice, and housing. The University of British Columbia Press published her book, Trustees at Work: Financial Pressures, Emotional Labour, and Canadian Bankruptcy Law, in 2019 and she has an article out on the topic environmental liabilities in bankruptcy law in the University of Toronto Law Journal, vol 71(3).

Darcy MacPherson
Darcy MacPherson (he/him) is a Professor at the Faculty of Law at the University of Manitoba. He researches and teaches in the areas of contracts, corporations, secured transactions and organizational criminal liability. He is currently working on a piece about the non-availability of remediation agreements for trade unions.

Alfonso Nocilla
Alfonso Nocilla joined Western Law as a tenure-track Assistant Professor in 2018. Previously, he was a Visiting Professor and Catalyst Capital Fellow in Insolvency Law at Western, as well as a Research Fellow at the University of Florence. Alfonso has broad interests in commercial law, with emphasis on insolvency and restructuring from a comparative and empirical perspective. His research has been cited favourably by courts across Canada, including the Supreme Court of Canada, and has influenced recent insolvency law reforms in the E.U.

Maziar Peihani
Maziar Peihani is an Assistant Professor at the University of British Columbia, where he also holds the UBC Lawson Lundell Business Law Professorship. He teaches and researches in the areas of corporate and financial law with a special focus on the regulation of banks. His latest working paper, "Regulation of Cyber Risk in the Banking Sector: A Canadian Case Study," was recently listed on SSRN’s Top Ten download list for Regulation & Supervision.

Norman Siebrasse
Norman Siebrasse is a Professor of Law at the University of New Brunswick. His research and writing focuses on patent law, in particular pharmaceutical patent law, patent remedies and the intersection of IP law and commercial law. His blog Sufficient Description comments on recent Canadian patent cases. His writing, including his blog, is regularly cited by the Canadian courts.

Thomas Telfer
Thomas Telfer is a Professor in the Faculty of Law at Western University. His main research interests are in the fields of bankruptcy law and legal history. He is the author of Ruin and Redemption: A Struggle for Canadian Bankruptcy Law, 1867-1919 (University of Toronto Press) and is the co-author (with Virginia Torrie) of the forthcoming book: Debt and Federalism: Landmark Cases in Canadian Bankruptcy and Insolvency Law (UBC Press, fall 2021).

Virginia Torrie
Virginia Torrie (she/her) is the Associate Dean (Academic - JD Program) and an Associate Professor at the University of Manitoba. She researches and teaches in the areas of bankruptcy and insolvency law, business associations, negotiable instruments and banking law, secured credit and legal history. The University of Toronto Press published her monograph Reinventing Bankruptcy Law: A History of the Companies’ Creditors Arrangement Act in 2020, the University of British Columbia Press is publishing her co-authored book (with Thomas Telfer) Debt and Federalism: Landmark Cases in Canadian Bankruptcy and Insolvency Law in 2021. She serves as Editor-in-Chief of the Banking & Finance Law Review.
Participant Bios

Roderick J. Wood

Professor Roderick J. Wood is the F.R. (Dick) Matthews Q.C. Professor of Business Law at the Faculty of Law, University of Alberta, and teaches in the areas of commercial law, bankruptcy and insolvency law, and secured transactions law. Professor Wood is the author of a book on Canadian bankruptcy and insolvency law, a co-author of a book on personal property security law, and has written extensively on commercial law topics in national and international law journals.

Frankie Young

Frankie Young is an Assistant Professor at Lincoln Alexander School of Law. She researches and teaches in the areas of Indigenous economic development, Indigenous law, business law, trusts, commercial law and property law. She has published numerous articles on Indigenous economic development including: Indigenous Economic Development and Sustainability: Maintaining the Integrity of Indigenous Culture in Corporate Governance" (2021) vol 17:2 MJSDL and Considering Trust Investment Principles Through the Lens of Two-Eyed Seeing (2020) 40 E.T.P.J. 97.

Communications support has been generously provided by the Desautels Centre for Private Enterprise and the Law, Faculty of Law, University of Manitoba.