

USask College of Law Lecture Series:
Cronkite Memorial Lecture
Sponsored by McKercher LLP

Notwithstanding the Judiciary: Populism and the Courts in a Constitutional Democracy

Speaker: Adam Goldenberg

Adam Goldenberg, a partner with McCarthy Tétrault LLP in Toronto and lead counsel for UR Pride, will explore how the use of the notwithstanding clause by Canadian legislatures reflects rising populism, particularly on the political right, and the erosion of norms that safeguard the rule of law in a constitutional democracy.

When our elected representatives seek to silence the courts, what does that mean for politically unpopular minorities—and for our democracy? And how should lawyers respond?

Sept. 16, 12 pm

MLT Aikins Lecture Theatre (Room 150)
USask College of Law
15 Campus Drive

Event info & link
to livestream

BE WHAT THE WORLD NEEDS

UNIVERSITY OF SASKATCHEWAN
College of Law
LAW.USASK.CA