Indigenous Students' Open House - Toronto Office

We invite Indigenous law students to join us for a summer open house. This event will offer an opportunity for Indigenous students to learn more about our firm, while meeting with Indigenous members of our team, lawyers involved in pro bono initiatives supporting Indigenous communities, and more. In our discussions we will also share details about our valued partnership with the Martin Family Initiative Indigenous Student mentorship program, our work with the Giiwedín Anang Council at Aboriginal Legal Services, and the Indigenous Human Rights Clinic we are building with the Ontario Federation of Indigenous Friendship Centres, PBSC, and others.

This event will offer an inclusive environment where students can freely ask questions about the firm's practice groups, our culture, pro bono initiatives, and the upcoming summer student recruitment process.

Date:

Tuesday, June 4, 2019
